NACC MEMBERSHIP

The Board and staff of the Northern Agricultural Catchments Council are committed to fostering and developing a sense of community throughout the region. We strive to ensure that all community meetings and workshops are conducted in a warm, friendly and good-humoured atmosphere.

NACC assists land managers to make economically sound decisions to build or maintain the health of their land and the surrounding landscape.

To ensure NACC represents the people of the Northern Agricultural Region, and is their voice in all government circles, we encourage you to renew your membership or to become a new member. Membership is FREE and brings with it these benefits:

- NACC newsletters that provide information, including research results, for the best management of our lands, waterways and oceans;
- Information and support to write grant applications that will assist you to take up those practices best suited to the resources you manage or own and for the surrounding landscape;
- Access to NACC professionals who will assist you to make the best decisions for the resources you own or manage;

- Opportunity to participate in strategic decision making in the Northern Agricultural Region;
- Access to the best advice on funding and training opportunities;
- A place to express the interests of your community on NACC regional and sub-regional committees;
- A voice in the allocation and prioritisation of NACC funds for Natural Resource Management projects in your region;
- Assistance in negotiating with Indigenous groups in your area, a mandatory requirement for most NRM funding applications.

Membership is open to residents, landowners, those interested in NRM, or group members, agencies, or organisations within the region with an interest in NRM and in promoting the objectives of NACC.

As a NACC member, you can choose how actively you want to be involved. With four sub-regional groups feeding into NACC, there is considerable opportunity for your involvement.

You can also elect to be a member of your local sub-regional group when you fill in this membership form.

However, it is only as a registered member will you have voting rights and a voice in NRM initiatives undertaken in your area.
